Product by Ligne Roset

Backpack, the collection of seating designed by the LucidPevere design studio, has a new look. Now with smaller dimensions than in its debut in 2017, it is available in an outdoor and indoor version. Consisting of 2-seat sofa, armchair and ottoman, this collection makes a statement. There is a complementarity between the various materials used: the structure in carbon-lacquered aluminum and the seat covered in a technical fabric highlight its informal lines and welcoming, ergonomic curves. Color is central to this design; always somber and evocative of walks in the countryside. The soft cushions are designed to enhance the comfort of the piece. A collection which surprises as much by its simplicity, evident at first glance, as it does by its lightness, which is not only visual but physical. When used outdoors a 2" - 5" cm channel allows water to drain away naturally rather than collecting between the seat and back.
