

Postmoderne

Sideboard

Product by Ligne Roset

The Postmoderne collection by Eric Jourdan revolves around the language of shape and form. It is the drawing by pencil, the shifts and adjustments to proportion which constitute the design of the furniture. This is seen in the balance of the tops and the staggered legs. In the light, asymmetrical appearance we rediscover the round form so dear to Eric Jourdan. Structure with rounded corners finished in argile or plomb lacquer with matching interiors.
